City National Bank of Florida Optimizes Customer Relationship Value through Innovative Data Approach

Client Challenge

The bank was not effectively assigning its relationship managers to optimize service, balance resource workloads and maximize revenue. An innovative data-grouping solution was needed to handle account complexities without negatively impacting customers.

Solution

The project team used Microsoft Azure to develop a graph data structure and associated algorithms to organize and analyze nested banking customer relationships.

Client Value

The solution reduced daily data processing time by nearly 96%, from 24 hours to one hour. It also automated more than 90% of client relationship management assignments by using a data-driven approach.

Let's Transform Together.
