

Data Privacy

Adapt to the new business reality.

Our national and global clients are experiencing an unprecedented change in their data privacy landscapes. Recently enacted state regulations and the increasing prospect of additional state and federal privacy laws – not to mention the kaleidoscope of rapidly expanding privacy regulations globally – are forcing business, technical, legal and operational changes on a nearly constant basis. These changes are not necessarily exclusive of one another and often overlap, resulting in highly complex legal and regulatory scenarios.

“ Our team works closely with our clients to understand the current privacy landscape, assess the client's business strategy, implement risk-based measures, and quickly respond to new and changing requirements.

— Sameer Ansari
Managing Director

How We Can Help

-  Privacy Program Assessments
-  Privacy Program Development
-  Managed Privacy Services
-  Flexible Privacy Resources

Business Outcomes

-  Understanding data collection, processing and applications in scope; identification of regulatory compliance gaps and remediation steps
-  Implementation of an effective and flexible data privacy program that meets not only today's obligations, but those of tomorrow as well
-  Support client data privacy obligations by providing a managed services/outsourced option to the Chief Information Security, Chief Privacy and Chief Compliance Officers

Need

Create an effective data privacy program that addressed both U.S. and global data privacy regulations, including global training and communications, governance and strategic support.

Solution Delivered

Executive report for leadership summarizing organization's privacy requirements and risks; analysis of privacy compliance gaps and root causes, with a remediation plan; flexible data privacy compliance program to apply globally; vendor-contract review program; managed services model to support data subject requests.

Business Results

Detailed and executive data privacy regulatory assessment reports; increased enterprise awareness using state-of-the-art organizational change management techniques; implementation of effective and flexible global data privacy compliance program; establishment of managed services that outsource data subject request processing.
