How Moving to SAP S/4HANA and Leveraging Other SAP Solutions Can Benefit Consumer Products Companies

Read More

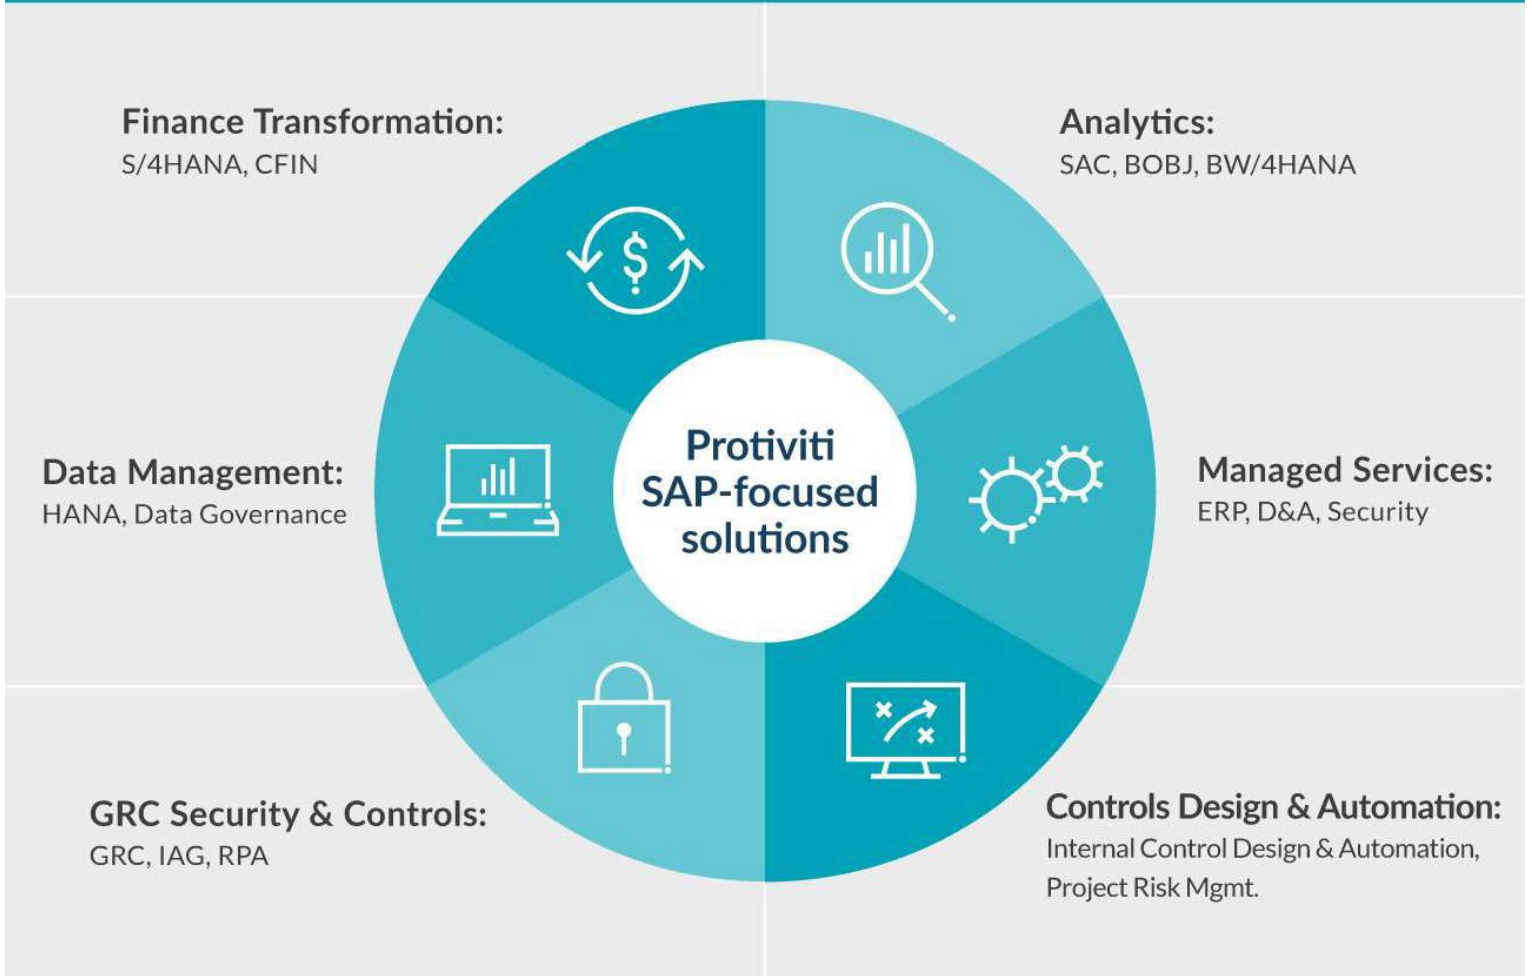

The consumer products industry has experienced a major shift in the way business is conducted. Out of the pandemic, new business models have emerged, as well as changing expectations from customers and suppliers, and the rise of inflation has added a compounding effect. To address these challenges, consumer products companies should focus on the key areas discussed in this blog.

Lessons Learned: Shell Conversion to SAP BW Bridge for SAP Datasphere

In the modern digital era, data is the foundation of every firm. Enterprises constantly seek methods to improve their data warehousing strategies to provide the business with faster, more accurate, and newer insights. A new platform that has changed the way data is managed, stored, and analyzed is the SAP Datasphere (formerly known as SAP Data Warehouse Cloud). Enterprises may create a modern SAP-centric data warehouse with the SAP Datasphere that offers real-time insights for better decision-making by utilizing the power of cloud computing.
