Modern slavery is a crime and a violation of fundamental human rights. The Company is committed to ensuring there is transparency in its business and in its approach to tackling modern slavery throughout its supply chains, consistent with its disclosure obligations under the Modern Slavery Act 2015. The Company expects the same standards and commitment from all of its suppliers, contractors and other third parties.

DUE DILIGENCE PROCESSES FOR SLAVERY AND HUMAN TRAFFICKING

We identify and assess the risk of potential slavery and human trafficking risk areas in our supply chains using several factors including the supplier's geographical location and the industry in which they operate. As part of our initiative to identify and mitigate the potential risk we assess all existing and new suppliers and have in place a supply chain compliance programme, which consists of:

- Requiring all staff to comply with our Corporate Offences Policy and to avoid any activity that might lead to, or suggest, a breach of this policy.
- Requiring suppliers to agree to comply with the Modern Slavery Act and that they will adhere to the principles set out in our Corporate Offences Policy before they are approved and included in or allowed to continue to be included in, our supply chain.
- Requiring all new suppliers to agree to contractual obligations to avoid slavery and human trafficking and all existing contracts to include these contractual obligations at the next renewal or extension.
- Encouraging all staff and third parties to raise any concerns about any issue or suspicion of modern slavery in any parts of the business or supply chains of any supplier tier at the earliest possible stage and to notify their point of contact, a Managing Director and / or the Legal Department (as applicable).
- Establishing clear communications regarding the Corporate Offences Policy and the Company's zero-tolerance approach to modern slavery between all managers who are responsible for procurement of goods and / or services and all third parties during the procurement process and / or at the outset of each business relationship.
- Protecting staff from victimisation or retaliation if they raise concerns about slavery and human trafficking, even if raised in error.
- Taking any allegation of potential slavery and human trafficking seriously and investigating any allegation diligently.

GUIDANCE TO STAFF

All staff have been provided with our Corporate Offences Policy and are made aware of the risks of modern slavery and human trafficking in our supply chains and our business.

OUR EFFECTIVENESS IN COMBATING SLAVERY AND HUMAN TRAFFICKING

We will know the effectiveness of the steps that we are taking to ensure that slavery and/or human trafficking is not taking place within our business or supply chain if no reports are received from employees, clients, associates, third party suppliers, members of the public, or law enforcement agencies to indicate that modern slavery practices have been identified.
