

Taking RPA to the Next Level

How manufacturing and distribution (M&D) companies are using robotic process automation to beat the competition

Companies across all industries are pumping resources into robotic process automation (RPA). The majority of M&D executives expect their organizations to increase their use of RPA in as little as two years. These are among numerous takeaways from a global survey conducted by Protiviti and ESI ThoughtLab.

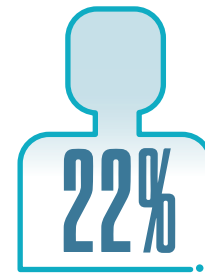

M&D survey participants identified as:

47%
RPA Leaders

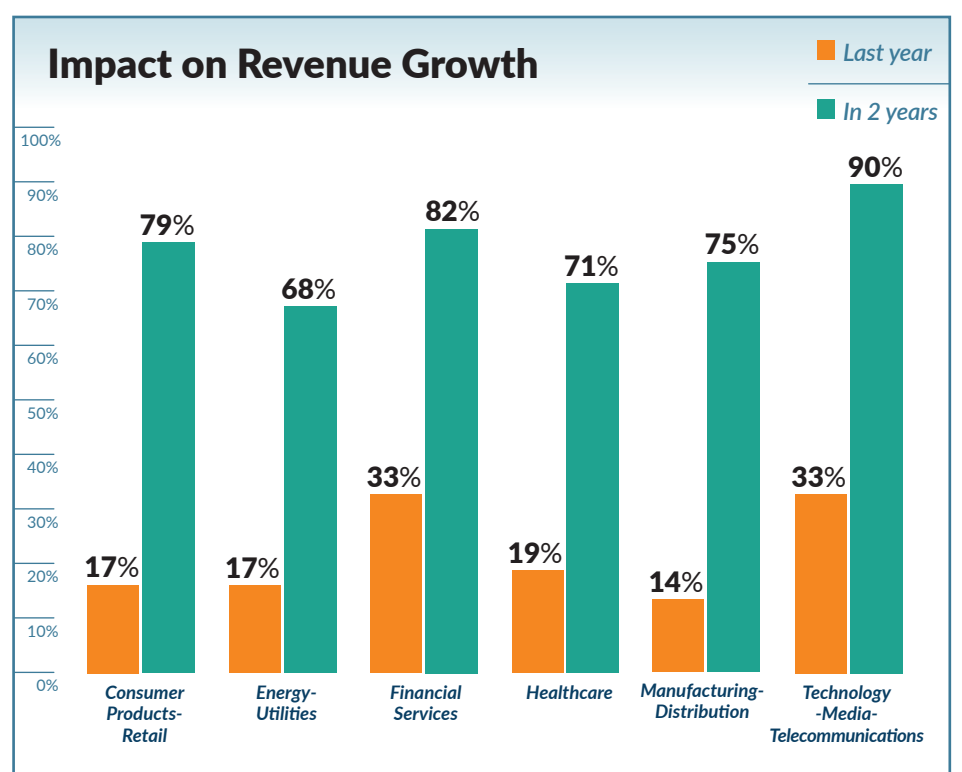

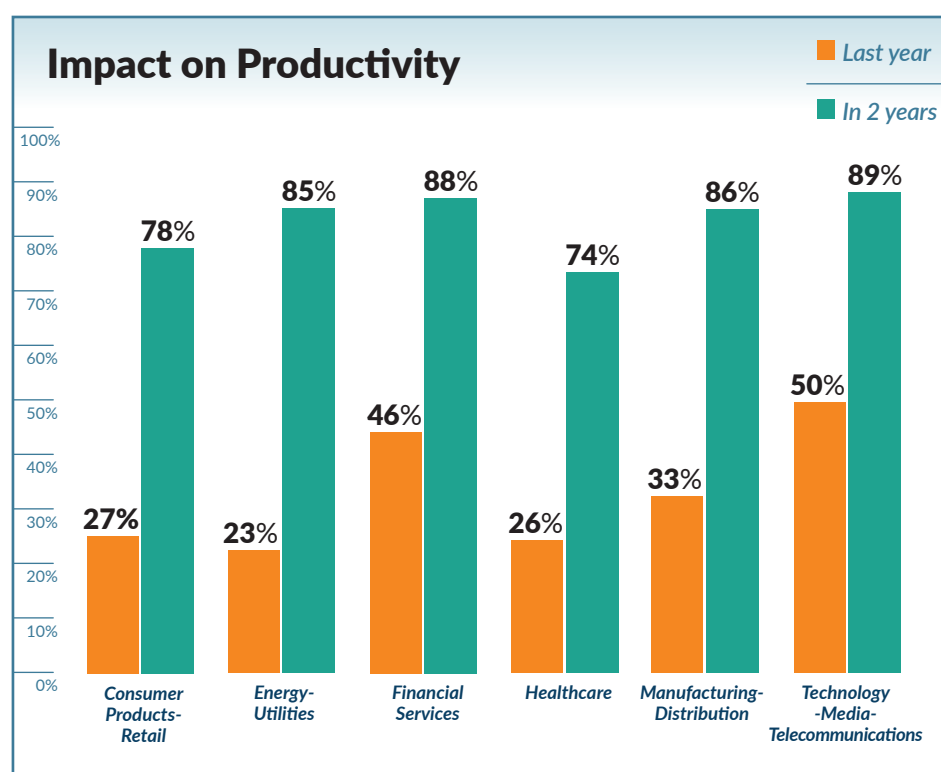

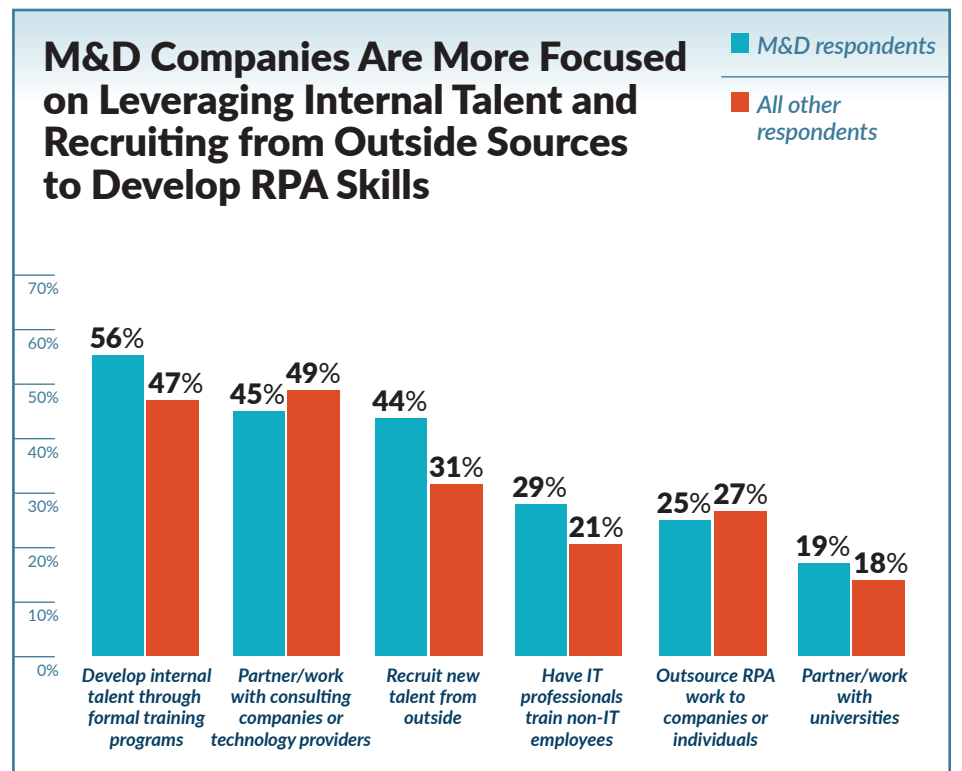

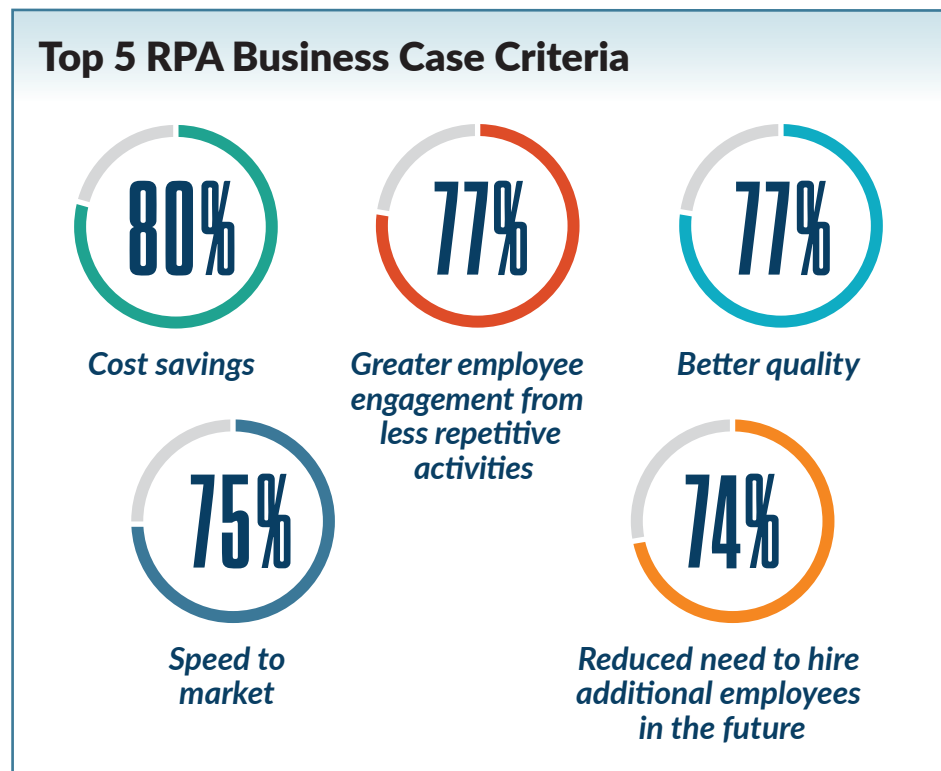

31%
RPA Intermediates

22%
RPA Beginners

RPA delivers many benefits

M&D companies are finding that their RPA investments produce benefits far beyond cost savings.
