

Using Microsoft SharePoint Effectively

Are All the Pieces in Place?

Numerous studies indicate that at least 80 percent of large companies today are using SharePoint. But are they getting all they can from it? A recent Protiviti survey suggests that while organizations value what SharePoint can deliver, they are missing some key pieces of the puzzle to make it a complete success.

Microsoft SharePoint is viewed to be a critical business tool ...

95%

...but governance and adoption are falling short.

69%

say additional training would improve user adoption.

57%

say a clear governance strategy would make SharePoint a success.

50%

say SharePoint adoption in the organization is only fair or inadequate.

90%

of organizations don't have a formal way to track user adoption.

43%

of organizations have yet to associate business goals directly with SharePoint use.
